

EXTRA SESSION IS NOW ASSURED

President Consults Leaders of His Own Party as to Date on which the Congress of the Nation will be Called Upon to Reconvene.

ADVISED TO PICK OWN DATE

Will Probably Disregard Wishes of Democratic Congressmen Who Asked For Month's Time in Which to Perfect Party Organization and Will Issue Call For Middle of March—Bailey Kills Proposition to Try Parcel Post on Rural Routes.

Washington, March 3.—That there is no hope left for averting an extra session of congress is the opinion entertained by President Taft. And he will call it earlier than April 4. Republican leaders in congress were called to the White House for a conference, and after it was over this was what they reported.

It seems certain that the reciprocity measure can not be passed by the senate before congress adjourns tomorrow. President Taft said some time ago that if it does not pass he will call an extra session, and he now declares the extra session necessary. In compliance with the wishes of the Republican leaders he will call it earlier than April 4, the date which the Democratic leaders had agreed upon, as they wanted a month in which to prepare their legislative program.

Mr. Taft will be guided, it is said, by the wishes of the Republicans, and it was announced that a conference will be held, probably Monday to decide upon a date. March 20 was the date talked about at the capitol.

Indict Principals in Newark Lynching

Newark, O., March 3.—Two more men accused of first degree murder have been arrested and 19 first degree murder indictments returned as the result of the investigation conducted by the special grand jury that has just completed a probe of the Etherington lynching.

Cleveland Priest and "Pat" Haycock were taken into custody shortly before the report was made public. An indictment was also returned against James Marlowe, arrested at Zanesville Monday, and one secret indictment was returned. The other 15 indictments were against 15 of the 17 men already held in the county jail, the tenure of the original murder indictments having expired in their cases.

It became known that two additional indictments against the real principals in the lynching have been previously returned. Until these men are apprehended the names will not be made public.

Mitchell to Edit Journal.
Indianapolis, Ind., March 3.—A report is current at union headquarters in this city that John Mitchell is to become the editor of the Mine Workers' Journal, the official organ of the organization. The present editor has resigned and the executive board will select his successor. It is understood that Mitchell has been offered the place at an increased salary.

Catches Bomb in Hand.
Calcutta, March 3.—An attempt of a Bengali youth to assassinate with a bomb a British official, who was in an auto, was frustrated by the official changing to see the bomb thrown, which enabled him to catch it in his hands.

Service Pension Bill Killed

Senators Vote Against Service Measure Passed by House.

Washington, March 3.—The service pension bill, carrying appropriations of nearly $50,000,000, which was passed by the house and which the president has indicated that he would veto, was put to sleep in the senate as far as this session of congress is concerned. The measure was offered as an amendment to the general pension bill, whereupon Senator Lodge made a point of order against its consideration on the ground that it came under the rule that excludes general legislation.

Chinese Use Eagle Decoys to Lure Wild Eagles Into Traps

AMERICAN hunters are familiar with the use of decoy ducks. Sometimes these decoys are mechanical, and sometimes they are alive. Tame ducks swimming in a pond will attract wild ones flying high overhead, or wild ducks that have had their wings clipped will serve the same purpose if tethered in the shallow waters of the feeding grounds of the fowls. Ducks that are "winged" and not seriously hurt are often saved by hunters to serve as decoys. The Chinese have for long years used a similar scheme except they use eagles to lure eagles instead of ducks to lure ducks. Every year at about the same time the residents of Shantung set out for Mongolia to capture wild eagles. They march in a sort of procession, carrying on their shoulders long poles from which their personal belongings bang and on which their tame eagles perch. When they reach the spot where the trapping is to be done they spread their nets and on them place little dried fish. Then the tame birds are put in the nets, where they begin eating the fish. The decoys thus attract the wild eagles, which descend to get some of the food. Then the Chinese close the nets, and the wild eagles are caught.

BARON KILLS PRINCESS THEN SHOTS HIMSELF

ROMAN SOCIETY IS SHOCKED

Princess Santella Was Favorite Lady-in-Waiting to Queen and Was Reigning Beauty in Court Circles. Affair With Cavalry Lieutenant Threatened to Result in Her Expulsion From Palace—Attempt to Break With Man Led to Tragedy.

Rome, March 3.—Princess Giulia Trigona di Santella, wife of Prince Trigona di Santella, and lady-in-waiting to Queen Helena, was stabbed to death by Baron Vincenzo Pateruo, 24, a cavalry lieutenant and a member of a noble Sicilian family, who then attempted to commit suicide with a revolver, but failed. He wounded himself so severely, however, that he was taken to a hospital.

The tragedy was enacted at the Hotel Rebecchino, a third-rate house. The baron engaged a room there. Later the princess joined him and they locked themselves in the room. Being unknown to the hotel people they attracted no attention until midday, when the discharge of a revolver startled the attendants. The police were called and they burst in the door of the room. They found the princess dead on the bed. She was undressed and covered with blood. There were two deep gashes in her neck, and beside her body was a bloody hunting knife. The baron was lying on the floor in a swoon with a bullet wound under his ear. He was immediately carried to the hospital, where the surgeons believe his wound is not fatal.

The princess was 36 years old and was one of the most beautiful women in Rome. She was a prominent society leader. She resided at the Quirinal, where she was Queen Hel-

Pomerene's Farewell Nichols' Debut

Lauded in Senate and Invited to Address House Members.

Columbus, O., March 3.—At the request of a number of representatives, Speaker Vinson invited Senator-elect Pomerene to address the house before his departure for Washington.

HUGH L. NICHOLS

Batavia Man Who Will Be Ohio's Lieutenant Governor.

where tomorrow he will take the oath of office as United States senator.

The retiring lieutenant governor thanked the members for the compliment paid him by the invitation to appear before them, and said that although he had been associated with them in legislative work for a very short time, he felt on his departure as if he were leaving old friends tried and true.

The speaker said that while he considered the work of a United States senator very important, it is no more important than the work of a state legislature, which comes more nearly home to the people of the state. He said that the compensation of a public servant is not in the meager stipend which he may receive, but that it comes from the consciousness that he has served his constituents well and truly and kept faith with the people. In conclusion Mr. Pomerene said:

Realizes His Responsibility.

"I often learn of men who have been elected to high offices and of their retirement when the finger of scorn is pointed toward them. They are subjected to criticism—sometimes wrongfully, sometimes, and unfortunately, rightfully. It would be vastly better that a man would never be called to the public service than to be called and weighed in the balance and found wanting.

"My friends, I want to assure you again that my heart overflows with gratitude at the kindnesses that I have received at your hands, and in your work here and in your private careers hereafter, may the God of Hosts be with you and guide you and yours. I thank you."

Members of the state senate paid tribute to Lieutenant Governor Pomerene. A resolution thanking him for his fairness and uniform courtesy was offered by Senator Cetena.

HEAR OF HOSTILE COMBINE

Lieutenant Governor Pomerene Eulogized in Senate and Invited to Address Members of House Before Departing For Washington—Hillenkamp Brings Up Unpleasant Reminiscence of Cassie Chadwick's Career as Reply to Bankers' Protest.

Columbus, O., March 3.—No agreement was reached at the Democratic house caucus as to what should be done in the Cincinnati election contest cases, wherein it is proposed to unseat Republican senators and representatives declared elected last November, and whose right to seats is questioned on the claim of illegal voting and restraints put upon electors.

It was regarded as manifestly improper for the house members to caucus on this matter prior to a report on the subject by the house committee which has investigated the election. To the caucus word was brought that there was no hope of unseating the contested senators, inasmuch as Republicans and Democrats to the number of 22 had combined in the upper branch to prevent such action. The caucus also discussed informally the proposed gerrymander of the state and the question of early adjournment, but no agreement was reached. Fifty-three of the 79 house Democrats attended the caucus.

As his last official act as lieutenant governor, President Pomerene named Senators Reynolds, Yount, Crawford and Deaton of Champaign as a committee to escort Lieutenant Governor-to-be Hugh L. Nichols to the senate chamber Monday evening. It is not known just when the oath of office will be administered to Mr. Nichols, as he has not yet arrived in the city.

The house passed two house bills by Mr. Lorenz of Clark, one placing electric lines under the same obligations as steam roads regarding fencing and ditching, and the other giving the right to sue electric roads, similar to those applicable to steam roads.

Fellinger's bill to more effectually penalize those who allow and those who receive rebates in the insurance business was defeated, reconsidered and then referred back to the committee after a stormy debate.

New French Cabinet Formed

M. Monis Takes His Appointment to Palace For Inspection.

Paris, March 3.—Premier Monis finally completed a new cabinet and he and the members called in a body on President Fallieres in the Elysee palace. Crowds gathered in the street outside the palace and cheered ironically as the new cabinet filed in. The ministry as finally constructed is as follows:

Minister of foreign affairs, M. Kruppi; minister of marine, M. Theophile Delcasse; minister of war, M. Henri M. Bertaux; minister of finance, M. Caillaux; minister of justice, M. Perrier; minister of public instruction, M. Steeg; minister of public works, M. Dumont; minister of commerce, M. Masse; minister of agriculture, M. Jules Pams; minister of labor, M. Paul Bencour; minister of the colonies, M. Messimi.

RECIPROCITY AGREEMENTS MAKE OHIO FARMERS THINK

Some Are in Favor of Its Adoption and Others Are Unalterably Opposed to Its Ratification--Many Have Inclined to the Belief that it Will Hurt Producer and Benefit Large Mills.

While the Ultimate Consumer will Reap No Benefit at All--Features Other Than the One Affecting Wheat Are Little Considered in this County.

SECRETARY SANDES IS GETTING VIEWS

According to an interview given out by A. P. Sandes, Secretary of the State Board of Agriculture, the farmers of Ohio are about equally divided on the reciprocity agreement with Canada.

Mr. Sandes has recently gone to much trouble to inform himself as to just what the sentiment in Ohio really is on this much mooted question which is troubling the president and congress so much.

Some are found to be violently opposed to the Taft program and say sentiment in their counties is almost unanimous against it, while others say sentiment in their communities is for it.

Between the violent opinions on either side, there is a third class of farmers who can't figure that the bill is going to hurt the farmer to an appreciable extent. They don't care whether it passes or not.

Sandes is out after more information from farmers. He would know several things, among which is what inducements are being held out to Ohio farmers to leave the state. "What is your reason for the big decrease in population of our rural counties in Ohio?" is one shot over the plate by Sandes, at Ohio farmers as they sit around the fire after supper and chores. It's a puzzler to be sure. "How get producer and consumer nearer together is another question."

It's to solve the first of these two important questions that the special Big Four train will run across northern Ohio the week after next. Sandes has insured a fine display car, and teachers for miles around are asked to take special interest in the movement. Literature will be distributed as one means of arousing interest.

In this city and county the sentiment judging from what little talk has been heard on the subject is about evenly divided.

The majority of the farmers, however, seem to be opposed to the adoption of the agreement, the feeling being that the opening of the markets to Canadian wheat will result in a reduction in the price of that commodity which will result only to the disadvantage of the farmer and the benefit of the large milling industries of the northwest and no benefit to the ultimate consumer.

Fayette county farmers have long regarded the raising of wheat as one of their chief revenue producing crops, and they do not view with favor the enactment of any law which will tend to reduce the value of that crop.

In this locality which is chiefly an agricultural one, the other features of the agreement are scarcely even mentioned.

As to whether or not the agreement as a whole will benefit or injure the community very few have formed and fewer still have expressed an opinion.

The division of sentiment, pro and con, finds its line of division almost wholly on the one feature--wheat. Considering the industry of this county it is but natural that this should be true. That feature is one of such vital importance here that few men go farther in the consideration of the matter than that one feature. On that they form their opinion either for or against the treaty.

DEATH OF MRS. MARY A. VANCE

Mrs. Mary A. Vance, a former well-known citizen of Washington C. H., died Wednesday morning, March 1st, at 4 o'clock, at Grant Hospital, Columbus, following a surgical operation, aged 62 years. The funeral will take place Saturday at 1:30 p. m. from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Harry Joseph, 119 South Champion avenue. Burial in Green Lawn cemetery.

Mrs. Vance is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Joseph, Mrs. Lucy Sawyer of Bellefontaine, and Mrs. May Sperry of Cleveland. For the last 10 years Mrs. Vance had lived with her daughter in this city.

MISS HELEN JONES UNDERGOES OPERATION

Miss Helen Jones, daughter of Mrs. Ada Jones, was operated upon for appendicitis at Mt. Carmel Hospital Thursday morning and it is welcome news, indeed, to a large circle of friends, that she stood the operation well, with the best of prospects for complete recovery.

Dr. D. H. Rowe, Mrs. Jones and sister, Mrs. Eliza Waddell, accompanied Miss Jones to Mt. Carmel.

Farewell To Ashes, Coal And Dirt

At an electrical dinner at the Montauk Club, Brooklyn, last week, Charles W. Price, editor of the Electrical Review, one of the speakers, said:

"I dare to make the prediction, based on knowledge of important experiments, that the day is not far distant when the coal pile in the cellar will be replaced by the electrical reservoir of box-like shape and moderate size, to furnish heat throughout the entire building and also to the kitchen in residence for cooking. And this will be done economically, compared with coal, as this accumulated electricity will be stored at lower cost and be on tap for use when needed."

"I am hopeful that this may be realized before we meet again one year from now if we do meet. Then will the coal wagon in front of the house disappear, the furnace caretaker lose his vocation, and the ash man become a reminiscence."

MOVING FOR SOLDIERS' RELIEF

The House of Representatives last week adopted the Frazier joint resolution calling upon congress to enact the bill giving to widows of soldiers the same amounts which their husband received.

Last month the legislators endorsed the Sulloway bill, which increases the pension expense $45,000,000 annually and a week ago the senate passed the Cstone bill, which compels counties in which members of the "Squirrel Hunters" provisional army lived to pay them pensions, the estimated cost being $250,000 a year. In addition they are to be admitted to the State Soldiers' Home at Sandusky, if they desire.

Just 388 residents of the city of Washington cast their ballots in THE HERALD Voting Contest up to one o'clock today, the close of the fourth day of the contest.

Today's returns raised the total vote cast since the opening of the contest to 749. Out of this grand total the Central school grounds as the location of the new High school building, has received 591 votes, The Point 37, the Paul lot 108, and the Dale lot 13.

Doesn't this show that the people of Washington are alive and taking a deep interest in the settlement of this problem?

If you have not voted, do so before it is too late.

Votes will be received at THE HERALD office until 5 p. m., Saturday evening, March 4. After that hour votes will have to be mailed, and all letters containing ballots cast must then bear the postmark of Saturday, March 4, 1911, to be received and counted.

This is merely a friendly contest to show the sentiment of the people in the problem of selecting the new school site. So much has been said about this matter and there is so much interest in the affair that THE HERALD has undertaken to find out just what the people want.

Everybody should vote, their choice. The result will furnish the Board of Education with the information upon which they can act in carrying out the expressed wishes of the majority.

It makes no difference which site you prefer, just vote!

In the balloting today the Central school grounds still takes the lead. It behooves the friends of the other locations to get busy. Blank ballots can be had at this office by any one interested.

In every copy of THE HERALD that will be published this week will appear a ballot, and every man and woman over 21 years of age, and every High school pupil in the city, resident of the school district, is entitled to ONE VOTE in this contest.

THE HERALD wants to know your choice. It will aid the School Board materially in solving a particularly perplexing problem to have a full and honest expression of opinion from the people.

To the credit of the School Board it must be said that every member is a thorough business man and representative of the highest class of our citizenship. The board is desirous of acting in accordance with the wishes of the greatest number of our people.

Several sites have been mentioned, chief among which are the Central school grounds, the "Point" on Washington avenue and East street, the Jno. Paul lot on Market and Forest streets and the Dale lot on Paint and Fayette streets.

Now that the opportunity to express a choice in a fair honest way is presented, there should be no excuse for the people not to avail themselves of it.

Every citizen should now speak his piece or forever keep his mouth closed. Here is an opportunity to help without knocking and it behooves every man, woman or High school pupil to put in his opinion.

No ballots will be received and counted later than Saturday, March 4th.

Votes must be sent in by mail or written on paper and sent to this office. No votes will be taken over the telephone. Votes received up until one p. m. each day will be counted and published the same day.

Indicate your choice on the following ballot (or on another piece of paper) marking an X in blank spaces as you view the various locations and mail or send to THE HERALD. After being counted the name of the voter will be detached from the ballot, rendering it impossible afterward to tell how any person voted.

RELATED RECOGNITION.

It remained for residents of far-away Spokane, Washington, to inaugurate a movement which now gives promise of resulting in the erection of a suitable monument over the long neglected grave of one of the most distinguished Ohioans and one of the greatest statesmen of all time—Salmon P. Chase.

The officers of the Spokane Clearing House Association are promoting a national movement to erect a fitting memorial in Washington D. C., to Salmon P. Chase, founder of the national banking system, who was governor of Ohio, secretary of the United States treasury, senator from Ohio and later chief justice of the United States during his notable career. It is planned also to raise a shaft over the unmarked grave in Cincinnati, where interment was made 13 years after his death in 1873.

W. D. Vincent, manager of the organization, who originated the plan of enlisting the support of the 7,000 national banks in the United States in the campaign, declares there will be no difficulty in raising a fund of at least $25,000 in subscriptions ranging from $1 to $5, according to the size of the bank, and in addition, he says, there will be many private donations, thus making it unnecessary to ask Congress for an appropriation.

The American people owe much to Salmon P. Chase. He entered the treasury when the nation's credit was so low that it failed in petty loans at 12 per cent., and he left it only when he was able to make the department command millions at 5 and 4 and even 3.65 per cent. When he died he left only a good name and a heavily mortgaged dwelling in the suburbs of Washington. He was a poor man and his salary was hardly sufficient to defray the expenses of his household and his station in life.

The Chase home was sold under foreclosure after his death, and his furniture, library and family relics were disposed of under the auctioneer's hammer in New York. His family was too poor to erect a tomb stone, and, though he has been dead 38 years, his grave in the cemetery near Cincinnati today is unmarked.

This is one of the extreme but unfortunately not isolated cases of public neglect, which gives color to the claim that the American people are unappreciative of honesty and ability in public servants.

That the grave of that eminent and conscientious public servant, Salmon P. Chase, should remain unmarked for nearly forty years, while a busy nation of busy people were too much occupied to remember with a substantial token of appreciation the heroic services he rendered at a time the nation and her people were in deepest distress, seems unbelievable.

Salmon P. Chase belonged to that period and to that school of statesmen where honor and public service were placed far above personal advantage; when the call to public duty meant more than the chance to line the individual pocketbook.

Salmon P. Chase died a poor man because he devoted his time and his ability to the nation's service. Because of his devoted service he left naught but a memory and that memory has been neglected.

It is high time the people who are at heart truly grateful for and appreciative of the services rendered by this man, do something to show that their appreciation of his life and his sacrifices, his services and the results attained are real and lasting.

Ohio should have been in the forefront of this movement, perhaps, although Chase belonged to the nation and the fact that from the remotest corner of this great big country—a new section—comes the cry to honor the memory of that life, should be an added incentive to every loyal man in Ohio and elsewhere, wherever the stars and stripes float, to shake off the lethargy and honor the memory of the man who saved the credit of the nation and inaugurated a system of banking which is today the pride of an enlightened people.

It is late, true, but not too late. The tallest shaft of granite possible to be erected by man, can add naught to the glory of Salmon P. Chase, neither can longer continued neglect dim that brilliant career of unselfish devotion to public duty, but the people should and would feel better if a suitable memorial was erected.

Some of the swan songs in both branches of Congress made a noise closely resembling grouchy croaks to a lot of us.

His enemies in the Senate have seen to it that "Bilby" Lorimer has one of the requisites for a chautauqua star—country-wide advertising.

Parties, desiring opinions from Doc Wiley are advised to see Mrs. Wiley first. The happy couple are doing a honeymoon stunt. May it be life-long.

Even if direct primaries were intended to give the poor man a chance, they seem to come high. Chicago's first nomination for mayor by primary is said to have been the most expensive the city has known.

The alleged reason for giving Taft a gold cowbell, at a University club banquet, was that he had caused "the milk of human kindness to flow from the White House," but 'tis suspected that 'twas given because he's the reciprocity "bellwether".

POETRY FOR TODAY

ILLUSION.

(The remarkable poem, or fragment, given below, is taken from a volume published recently in London entitled "The Pillow Book". No author is given credit, and search has so far failed to find one. A thought so striking, so well expressed, and so much a part of the philosophy of many high minds, ought not to remain long anonymous as to authorship.—Ed.)

God and I in space alone,
And nobody else in view.
"And where are the people, O Lord?"
I said:
"The earth beneath, and the sky
over head
And the dead whom once I knew."

"That was a dream," God smiled and said,
"A dream that has ceased to be true.

There were no people, living or dead,
No earth beneath and no sky over head.
There was only Myself and you!"

"And why do I feel no fear?" I said,
"Meeting You here this way!"
For I have sinned, I know full well,
And is there Heaven and is there Hell,
And is this the Judgment Day?"

"Nay, those were but dreams," the great God said
"Dreams that have ceased to be,
There are no such things as fear and sin,
And you yourself—you have never been,
There is nothing at all but Me."

THE BLUE MOUSE.

Are you a "Blue Mouse?" The way to tell is to find out if you feel "cunoodly." If you do, then you are one of them. To feel "cunoodly" is the result of temperament. It has something to do with love. Merely wanting a little affectionate attention isn't the same thing at all. In order to shake yourself like a woolly dog and say: "Gee, I feel, 'cunoodly,'" you must first get engaged. After you're engaged, send your fiancée away. Then you'll feel "cunoodly."

That's what "The Blue Mouse" says in the play of the same name and she ought to know, because she is engaged and playing the part of another man's wife for $2,000 per month. It's all proper enough when you see her in the play which comes to the Empire next Tuesday, March 7. Clyde Fitch has written the play and has entrusted the chief character to petite Wanda Ludlow. Her part is that of a Salome dancer, who is known as the "Blue Mouse." Her temperament leads her into all kinds of scrapes but the greatest is when she impersonates a Mrs. Rollett and flirts with the president of a big railroad company in order to get Rollett promoted. It's all very funny—and funny through the three acts.

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE!

People Notice It. Drive Them Off With Olive Tablets.

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pimples will vanish after you have taken the tablets a few nights. Nothing ever cleansed the blood, the bowels and the liver like Olive Tablets.

Olive Tablets are the only successful substitute for calomel; there's never any sickness or pain after taking them.

Olive Tablets do all that calomel does and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with "a dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

The olive oil in Olive Tablets is itself a natural laxative and has a healing, soothing, strengthening effect on the irritated organs.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result.

Try them. Take one nightly for a week. Then look at yourself in the glass and see how you feel.

At all druggists in neat pocket packages. 15 tablets for 10c; 45 tablets for 25c.

"SILVER CLEAN PAN."

Growing More Popular Every Day

The fact of the matter is, they are selling more rapidly than we expected. Almost every jeweler, hotel and club are using this wonderful labor-saving device with great success.

A necessity wherever silver is used.

After using a "Silver Clean Pan" you wonder how in the world you ever had patience to rub, and rub, until your fingers were sore, when the tarnish can all be taken off in a jiffy with this pan.

Simply a spoonful of salt and a spoonful of soda in the pan, fill with water (hot or cold), put in as much silver as the water will cover, and in a jiffy rinse with hot water and dry, and you have it cleaned, polished and sterilized, all in less time than it takes to tell it.

How a Girl
Can Dress on
$75 a Year

$6 a Week a Girl Can Support Herself. Aid
Family and Put Money in Bank—The Secret Is Practice of Economy,
Care and Neatness.

How much can the girl earning $6 a week spend on her clothes?

A girl who earned $6 a week during her first year of employment, spent 10 cents a day for carfare, 5 cents a day for luncheon, put 25 cents weekly in the savings bank and gave $2.75 each week toward the family support. With the remainder she bought her own clothes, paid her incidental expenses and had a small amount left for recreation. Here is a statement of her expenditures each week:

Carfare	10c
Luncheon	50c
Savings bank	25c
Toward the family support	2.75
Clothing, etc.	1.50
Total	$6.00

In 15 weeks she spent $75 for clothes, recreation and incidentals; saved $12.50 in the savings bank and contributed $137.50 toward the support of the family.

Any girl can keep inside an allowance of $75 a year for clothes if she follows these four rules and keeps them:

1. Buy only a good quality in the first place.
2. Buy nothing that interferes with the health.
3. Take care of clothes while wearing them.
4. Be superior to clothes.

As for the first of these rules, there are ways of telling pure wool and silk and linen and durable cotton from the inferior article. When in doubt, it is always possible to take a sample and at home wash it, expose it to the sun, or test it in other ways. Light and delicate shades of any goods are obviously impracticable, because they so quickly fade.

Question of Health.

It is, of course, false economy to purchase any sort of clothing, however cheap, which may interfere with the health. This bars out high-heeled shoes, low shoes in winter, tight corsets and too thin underwear.

One of the very best ways to economize on clothing is, literally, to "save" it, to take the very best possible care of it and prolong its life to the fullest extent. Why, a whole chapter could be written on the care of the hat—supposedly the most fragile article in a woman's wardrobe! The hat should be kept well brushed. The last hat should be put away in a box or pillow slip when not in use. In a stormy day the hat should be covered with a veil. When it becomes shabby and dusty, the trimming should be removed, brushed, cleaned thoroughly and the hat retrimmed. And there are ever so many more ways of making other articles of clothing last.

Now, what do I mean by being superior to one's clothes?

An Unwholesome Desire.

I mean that, having procured the latest, the most becoming and the most useful dresses, waists, shoes, gloves and hats that her money can buy, a girl should find pleasure in other things. Always to wish to have every new thing that fashion dictates, to be just a little better dressed than other girls of one's set, is an unwholesome desire. It is often unwittingly fostered by indulgent parents who "loan" the money for these extras. But constant indebtedness, even within the family, is a serious error in training how to use money.

Girls must learn that it is the plain, well-made clothes that are beautiful.

How to Dress on $75 a Year.

Here are three separate clothing accounts, each worked out by a girl on the $75 a year basis. The lists show clearly that there is room for individuality of choice, even on that small stipend. Here they are:

FLOWER HATS WILL BE MUCH IN VOGUE

For those fortunate ones who travel south to enjoy the balmy breezes of Palm Beach and St. Augustine, spring comes two months earlier than to those who must wait for the same warmth until it comes in natural season.

Therefore the southern traveler must have her summery wardrobe, and glad we are to see the stores display their dainty, thin garments and cool-looking straw hats.

Of all the hats shown, the prettiest, as well as most popular, are those composed entirely of flowers, although the flower-trimmed fellow as a close second. And first among the flower hats are those made of roses in the natural shades, as well as blue, lavender and greens.

A few of these hats show bandeaux, but they are in the minority, as there is a slight decrease in the head size this causing the hats to fit more snugly.

Trimming on the flower hats varies from nothing at all to huge egret and airy bows of wired lace, which is wired in such a way as to form loops from which the lace hangs in a manner suggesting the willow plume more than anything else.

Making Dresses at Cost of $1.00

What kind of a dress could you make at a cost of $1.00?

Not much of a one? Perhaps you think you couldn't but the girls at the Washington Irving High school of New York were so confident that a costume could be evolved for that sum that they set it as a price limit for their graduation gowns.

This is the actual outcome of heart burnings and jealousy and difficulties that years before have hung over commencement, the poorer girls having their pleasure spoiled by the sight of their richer companions clad in silk and filmy chiffons and arriving at school in taxicabs.

"We spend too much on graduation and get too little out of it," the girls cried, and so 34 members of the graduating class sat down to figure expenses.

"We can each have a pretty white lawn dress for $1.00," they argued. "Six yards of plain lawn at 10 cents a yard and some lace frills for neck and sleeves will make it come out right," they declared, and in order to help them they were allowed to make their pretty dresses at the school in the sewing room.

Taxis were tabooed. The girls either walked or rode in the trolleys to the exercises, which were held a few evenings ago, and the sight of the 34 coming in in those simple little frocks with their faces radiant with pride brought forth warm plaudits from the audience.

There was a great variety shown in these dollar dresses, for some had round necks, some square necks, some were of "5-cent" lawn with frills or embroidery, some had touches of lace and one or two were made lovely with hand embroidery done by the girl herself.

It shows, doesn't it, that extravagance in dress is not a necessity?

Yet many a girl who has left school without graduating and wept her heart out in her room when the graduation arrived for the others, has done so simply because she could not afford to dress as the other girls do.

But if other schools adopt this novel plan of setting a price limit on the frocks to be worn, and encourage the girls to make their own dresses the graduation gowns will certainly change considerably, but be none the less attractive for that.

Another feature of the graduation of the Washington Irving girls was their co-operation in getting ready for the march into the hall. Each girl had some special duty. One who has an artistic eye made the finishing touches to the coiffures of the girls, another wiped off with rice powder the flushed cheeks of the excited graduates. A third pulled out bows of ribbon, perked up bits of lace and pulled skirts straight, while others—volunteers at that—looked after and labeled everybody's coats and hats.

It was, they said, such fun to work together. They had bought the materials for their gowns together, cut and fitted them on each other, sewed over them together, and now that the time had come to wear them each girl felt a sort of proprietary interest in every dress there, and this added an extra bond to the one already welded by months of studying together.

PICTURE HATS ARE NOW BACK IN FAVOR

The picture hat has come back into its own. For while small hats continue to be popular for street wear, big hats, so beloved of all feminine hearts, are now much in favor for all formal occasions.

Black and white is the most popular combination for these new hats of the midwinter season, and touches of lace are seen on many, but the craze for gold and silver braid and tinsel roses seems to be over.

The hat shown in the illustration today gives a good idea of the becoming shapes into which these new picture hats are blocked. It is of black velvet faced with white lace over satin, the velvet coming over the edge and making a black cord to outline the white in a most effective fashion. Fluffy white feathers form the high trimming, and the whole is a most attractive headgear for many occasions.

For those to whom the high trimming of plumes is not becoming there are wide flat hats of panne velvet or beaver trimmed with wreaths of flowers and flat bows, while still other picture hats are trimmed only with flutings of maline that lend a light touch to the general effect that is especially attractive for evening wear.

If the hat is to be worn with one special gown a touch of the material may be introduced beneath the brim close to the hair, or a rose may be made of folds of the material and be caught under the brim at the left side. Another new shape for the picture hat is the "scoop," which is crownless and shaped much like a scuttle turned upside down. It is very picturesque, and when laden with pale tinted flowers and lined with satin of the same shade is one of the most becoming hats of the winter.

Still another shape is the "aero-plane," which is bent in a sharp curve at the front, the sides being flat and straight like the wings to a "plane."

There are, too, simple straight flat hats trimmed only with a wreath of satin roses, or of gardenias, but all are of the exaggerated size of the "merry widows" of some seasons ago.

For the woman who has a small hat which she wants to enlarge the style of two interior hats offers many opportunities. Perhaps she has a small beaver hat with a moderate brim—to this she sews stiffening and hat wire to the required size, then covers the addition to the brim with brocade.

Folds of brocade are laid about the crown and the whole finished with a stiff bow of the same material, and she has a picture hat that is the very latest fashion.

For Your Hair

Here Are Facts We Want You to Prove at Our Risk.

When the roots of the hair are entirely dead and the pores of the scalp are glazed over, we do not believe that anything can restore hair growth.

Reall "93" Hair Tonic acts scientifically, destroying the germs which are usually responsible for baldness. It penetrates to the roots of the hair, stimulating and nourishing them. It is a most pleasant toilet necessity, is delicately perfumed and will not gum nor permanently stain the hair.

We want you to get a bottle of Reall "93" Hair Tonic and use it as directed. If it does not relieve scalp irritation, remove dandruff, prevent the hair from falling out and promote an increased growth of hair and in every way give entire satisfaction, simply come back and tell us and without question or formality we will hand back to you every penny you paid us for it.

We lend our endorsement to Reall "93" Hair Tonic and sell it on this guarantee, because we believe it is the best hair tonic ever discovered. It comes in two sizes, prices 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain it only at our store,—The Reall Store. Blackmer & Tanquary.

The Old Rag Carpet

Oh, well I remember the home of my girlhood.

The sitting room opened on Sunday alone.

The big roomy sofa upholstered in horsehair.

The little old organ so wheezy of tone.

The green paper shades that were hung at the windows.

The round braided rug that was laid at the door.

The album, the vases, the white cotton tidies.

And the breadths of rag carpet that covered the floor—

The gaily-striped carpet, the old fashioned carpet.

The cherished rag carpet that covered the floor.

It was woven not only of linen and woolen.

But with fragments of sorrow and joy and romance;

The lavender silk that was worn to a wedding.

The figured delaine of a maiden's first dance.

A baby's pink frock and the weeds of a widow.

The blue of the coat that a soldier boy wore.

I knew and I loved every strip that was in it.

The dear old rag carpet that covered the floor—

The good honest carpet, the plain, humble carpet.

The home-made rag carpet that covered the floor.

ARCHITECT PACKARD WILL FURNISH PLANS

Building Committee Enters into Contract with Noted Draughtsman---Blue Prints Adopted Give Outline of the Splendid Building to be Erected for Y. M. C. A.

The Building Committee of the local Y. M. C. A. yesterday at Columbus, entered into a contract with Architect Frank L. Packard for the plans and specifications for the new Y. M. C. A. building.

The blue prints submitted by Mr. Packard were adopted and just as soon as the plans are made ready bids for the erection of the building will be called for.

As agreed upon there will in reality be two buildings. The main building will be built on the site of the old James Adams residence on Main street, fronting 50 feet on that street and running back 110 feet on the alley. The smaller building will front about 45 feet on Main street, closing the space between the main building and the rear of the Worthington building, which is now the property of the Y. M. C. A. The smaller building will have a depth of 40 feet. Both will be 3 stories in height. In the basement of the smaller building will be established a mechanical school.

The upper floors will be rented as apartments, the revenue to go toward conducting the mechanical school.

The entire front of both buildings will be similar and of a good quality of faced brick yet to be selected from samples to be called for with bids.

The basement of the main building will be fitted with bowling alleys, swimming pool, shower baths, etc. On the first floor will be the main entrance and a large public lobby free to all. All the balance of the building will be free only to members of the Association. In the rear of the lobby will be quarters for various departments arranged for convenience of members. Over the lobby on the second floor will be a large room with folding partitions which can be used for class rooms or by throwing all into one, be used as a meeting place. On the second floor will also be located a spectators' gallery from which the athletic exercises below may be witnessed.

The third floor will be devoted principally to dormitory purposes, a large number of rooms being provided.

The plans include apartments to separate the little fellows from the older members. The famous Kansas City locker system, one of the most expensive and complete of its kind, will be installed.

Before deciding upon anything, the building committee, Messrs. T. H. Craig and Dr. Carey Persinger, visited about twenty different Y. M. C. A. buildings in as many cities, and from their investigations have been able to formulate plans for an uncommonly complete building here.

Not until the plans are entirely finished will it be possible to present the public with the exact facts concerning the new building. Owing to the peculiar condition of the markets at present, it is also impossible to state with any degree of certainty what amount of money will be required, but the committee is using every effort to secure the best they possibly can with the money at their disposal.

BROWN-WATERS.

Mr. Lowell H. Brown and Miss Mary Waters were married by Rev. Locke at Grace parsonage, last evening.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Waters and the bridegroom, the son of Mr. S. E. Brown, of Bridges, and a nephew of Mr. J. W. Anderson, with whom he makes his home.

The young couple had as attendants, Miss Nina Dailey and Mr. Cary Cripps, and were also accompanied by the bride's sisters, Misses Dorcas and Ruth Waters, and the groom's sisters, Misses Jennie and Ruth Brown of Leesburg.

The bride looked very pretty in a handsome tan serge suit, with hat to match, and her maid was also attired in a stylish tan suit.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown went at once from the parsonage into their own home, furnished for occupancy, the Clyde Larimer property on Washington avenue.

Miss Dailey had anticipated the wedding by giving a miscellaneous shower for the bride, and the numerous gifts there received were in evidence in the new home.

Both young people have the best wishes of many friends.

Mr. Brown is in the grocery store of J. W. Duffee.

PLEASES BIG AUDIENCE

Charming melodies, captivating burlesques and college effervescence formed an invincible trio, stamping with distinctive brilliancy the concert given by the Denison University Glee Club Thursday night in Memorial hall.

There is something altogether different in a glee club concert, its sparkle and buoyancy; its gay humor and happy innovations, bringing back the glow of college life for the moment.

The Denison University has one of the best of Ohio's glee clubs. It is not only made up of exceptionally good voices, but fellows of originality and humor, who have lent their own individuality to the concert.

Their take-off on grand opera was one of the cleverest amateur skits seen in many a day, the high-flown language of the classical opera in juxtaposition with absurd situations and the "Hobble Skirt" convulsing the audience. "Fifteen Minutes at College", with the college sweater, pennants and ensemble lending realism, was also a hit in the successful pot pourri.

The glee club numbers were splendidly sung and were new and fetching. The tenor and bass soloists, Messrs. Wolf and Babb, were notably good and the pianist, K. H. Esch-

Seven Days After the Commencement of Lent--Exclude Sundays from Count Leaves Forty Days Fast Period.

Easter Sunday this year will be celebrated 47 days after the commencement of Lent, which fact has led many to believe that the 40 days of abstinence prescribed for all Christians observe Sunday as a day of rest. This is due to their overlooking the fact that Sundays are not counted in the count. The Easter Sunday this year will be celebrated on Sunday, April 16.

Police Chief Is Proven Convict

Danville, Va., March 3.—R. E. Morris, who for five years has served as Danville's chief of police, was identified as Edgar Stripling, murderer, and an escaped prisoner from Harris county, Georgia, who gained his liberty while serving a life term. He is being taken back to Georgia to begin the sentence pronounced against him 14 years ago. Without warning he was confronted by an officer with requisition papers to carry him back and he at once acknowledged his identity, making no effort to deny it. Not for a moment did he lose his nerve as he replied, "Yes, I am the man you want; I am guilty."

He was in uniform when arrested. In a steady voice he was heard to say over the telephone: "I won't be home tonight. Mr. Smith has come for me. You know, down in Georgia."

The arrest of Stripling occurred on the eve of the expiration of his term as chief of police of this city.

The board of police commissioners have a meeting scheduled for tonight for the election of a chief. Morris was a candidate for chief and, although he was being opposed, every indication pointed to his reelection.

Judges Clash Over Cox Case

Further Attempts Made to Knock Out Grand Jury.

Cincinnati, O., March 3.—The Cox grand jury scandal has taken several sensational turns. Joe Baschang, indicted by the same jury as Cox, filed a plea of abatement, attacking the validity of the grand jury. Presiding Judge Hunt, Republican, took a stand against Judge Gorman, Democrat, who will try the Cox case, when he set the hearing of the Hunt plea to knock out the Cox affidavit before the hearing tomorrow, when Prosecutor Hunt will formally plead for the retention of Gorman as the trial judge. Both moves caused a sensation here.

Baschang was indicted two weeks ago on charges of having solicited and accepted bribes from saloon keepers. His plea says only two members were drawn from the jury wheel and that of the 13 others nine are Democrats and hostile to the Republican party. One of the jurors is the father-in-law of one of the assistant county prosecutors, the abatement plea avers. It is also charged one of the jurors, hostile to the Republican party, represents the Democratic party on election day, and once broke up a Republican meeting by asking questions of the speakers.

Twits Ohio Bankers

Hillenkamp Argues For Bill to Guarantee Bank Deposits.

Columbus, O., March 3.—Representative Frank Hillenkamp, Toledo in dependent, created a roar of applause at the hearing on his bank deposit guarantee bill before the banks and banking committee of the house, when he said, in the presence of a number of dignified bankers, including former Governor Myron T. Herrick: "You let a woman like Cassie Chadwick have our money because she tickles you under the chin, and then you tell us that we have all the security for our deposits we need."

The bankers argued against the bill on the ground that the capital stock of banks, their surplus and their undivided profits were sufficient security for deposits.
